Message from the Chairperson

2018-19 was a busy and challenging year for the Heritage Council.

The Council made good progress in assessing the significance of places nominated to be heritage listed, and three places were permanently declared by the Minister as heritage places.

However a large number of nominations were received, more than in any previous year. This is a good sign, but it means that going into 2019-20 there is a backlog of assessments for the Council to work through. With the support of the Department of Tourism, Sport and Culture, I am sure the Council will be up to the challenge.

The Council dealt with more applications to carry out work to heritage places than in any previous year. Some of the applications for major work required considerable deliberation before Council was prepared to recommend approval.

The Council made notable progress on some key strategic and governance issues.

Feedback was provided to the Minister about proposed amendments to the Heritage Act 2011, and the Council adopted a range of policies intended to ensure consistency and transparency in decision-making by the Council.

The Council was also actively engaged in the development of Terms of Reference for the Council, which when adopted will provide much greater clarity about the role of the Council and of other parties, in managing the unique natural and cultural heritage of the Northern Territory.

On a personal note, it was my great privilege to travel to New Zealand in April 2019 for the annual meeting of the Chairs and Officials of Australia and New Zealand. There was much discussion about how to incorporate Indigenous cultural heritage issues into our decision-making process, and once again I was grateful for the opportunity to share information with people from all over Australia and New Zealand who are involved in cultural heritage management.

As Chairperson, and on behalf of my fellow Council Members, I wish to thank our Heritage Branch Staff for their professional contributions towards the delivery of advice and secretariat services to the Heritage Council over the past year.

Mr Wayne Kraft AM

The Heritage Act 2011 and the role of Council

The object of the Heritage Act 2011 ('the Act') is to provide for the conservation of the Northern Territory's cultural and natural heritage.

The Act is broad in its scope. It automatically protects all Aboriginal and Macassan archaeological places and objects, and has the capacity to automatically protect other classes of places.

The Act commenced on 1 October 2012.

The functions of the Heritage Council are set out in Section 125 of the Act, and are:

- (a) to assess the heritage significance of places and objects;
- (b) to recommend to the Minister the declaration of places and objects to be heritage places and objects;
- (c) to recommend to the Minister the revocation of the declaration for heritage places and objects;
- (d) to advise the Minister on the conservation, use and management of heritage places and objects;
- (e) to advise the Minister about the carrying out of work on a heritage place or object and to decide applications for work approvals other than applications for major work;
- (f) to promote, as it considers appropriate, the public use and enjoyment of heritage places and objects in a way that is consistent with the conservation of the heritage significance of the places and objects;
- (g) to facilitate public education and programs about the Territory's cultural and natural heritage;
- (h) to advise the Minister on financial incentives or concessions for heritage agreements (either in general or on particular agreements);
- (i) to advise the Minister on matters affecting the Territory's cultural and natural heritage;
- (j) to perform other functions conferred under this or another Act or as directed by the Minister.
